

Leaders Notes
February 20-21, 2010

In many ways Jim and Anthony's teachings this week are pretty much to the point. More than discussing, we need to "do". As a result, I am concentrating more time on the "sharing" section. During this time I have asked folks to share a sermon that was particularly meaningful in their lives and a Bible passage that God used to speak to them at some time in their lives. Really take some time with this exercise. Not only will it be a good community building time, but also I believe God will speak to each of us as we listen to how He has spoken to others.

The sermon is about why we have sermons in church, but it also discusses why we need scripture. Thus I have included question about scripture in this week's lesson. Basically the sermon is the scripture taught. Some would say that the difference between teaching and preaching is that preaching is more a proclamation of the good news. Where teaching is more a dissecting of what is written.
